TETSUNARI LIDA, DIRECTOR OF THE INSTITUTE FOR SUSTAINABLE ENERGY POLICIES IN JAPAN:
Community Power in Japan – from a global outlook

GUNNAR BØJE OLESEN, INFORSE-EUROPE COORDINATOR:
EU partnerships on climate improvements – do they work?

ARNE REMMEN, PROFESSOR, AALBORG UNIVERSITY:
Smart and sustainable communities – collaboration and partnerships. Arne will talk about how we get from theory to praxis.

HALFDAN MUURHOLM, JOURNALIST, DR:
Global media landscape – a reality check. Halfdan will talk about the global media landscape and why we have so few television programs about sustainability.

KAREN BLINCOE, DIRECTOR, ICIS:
A lighthouse in the sustainability wilderness. Schumacher College has been at the forefront of the sustainability agenda and has spread the message since 1991. Karen talks about the unique recipe that has made the College a success as well as the ripple effect this small place in the South of England has managed to create both in the region, nationally and internationally. How can this inform and enable us moving forward?

ERIK ALGREEN-PETERSEN, ARTFUL PUNCH:
The Artful Punch Method. Artful Punch is about finding the courage to break the barriers and make the choices needed, paving the way for a fulfilled work life – and about supporting each other in the release of all our competences and resources, so that “the whole can become greater than the sum of its parts.”

Friday 20 September – Process!
